If You Have Fundraising Experience and Want to Make a Difference

The dedicated people who volunteer for WAFAs \(Water Air Food Awards\) -- a non-profit NGO headquartered in Copenhagen, have a dream -- that all people on planet Earth will have access to clean water, clean air, and healthy food. If this is your dream, too, and you have 5+ years experience as a Fundraising Director or Manager, WAFAs invites you to apply for its now vacant Fundraising Director's position.

Here's what Tina Lindgreen, WAFAs's CEO & President, has to say about the work of her inspired non-profit organization:

WAFAs WATER AIR FOOD AWARDS

"At WAFAs Awards, we know that the effort to successfully resolve the world's many social and environmental challenges is a daunting one. That being said, we also know it's a challenge that can be resolved if enough dedicated people work together, selflessly, to make a difference.

Based on WAFAs's 11 years of experience in this field, we have realized that the solution begins by providing a platform to acknowledge the silent heroes around the world who have already developed proven, nature-based solutions.

Our approach is a simple one -- to identify and showcase what's already working to remediate the earth's environmental and social challenges and then do everything in our power to let all 7.6 billion people know about these low-cost, high impact, planet and people saving initiatives.

As WAFAs continues to expand its reach, so does our need for savvy, committed volunteers. Below is a description of an essential executive role we are hoping to fill by January 15th. If you know anyone with the skills, experience, and time to become WAFAs's new Fundraising Director, please forward this post to them. The role is a juicy one and the right person will make a huge difference in the impact WAFAs can have worldwide."
